To the Town of Brookfield at their annual march meeting on the eighth day of March 1762.

Humbly sheweth Moses Hastings and Ebenezer Hayward Inhabitants of said Town that in the year 1756 there was a road or Town way Laid out across their lands for the South Eastward Inhabitants of y^e^ third Precinct to come to the meeting house more easily. which Road was upon Certain Conditions and the said Petitioners have not yet opened the same but they now understanding that a number of the said Inhabitants Insist upon its being opened they now humbly address the Town for their candid Consideration —

In the first place they have Carefully measured the new & old road and find the new but fifty rods four nearer then the old road which they are Sensible is Some Small advantage to those who travail a great way. but then the new road Cutts off their lands from water which is a very Great Disadvantage to them. they are also sensible that it may be objected & said that it is a great privilidge to live near the place of publick worship. they acknowledge it: but then they Suffer many Inconveniencys their neighbors at a distance feel nothing off by being Incommoded on the Subbath days with much Company. nevertheless the people are welcome thereto but the Inconvenience to them of Continuing the new road by Letting off the Water and causing their making so much more fence they humbly Conceive is so much Greater than that of their Distant neighbors travailing fifty rods further: they humbly pray their and the Towns Considerations and Compassion and the said Road may be Discontinued nevertheless if it is they will always Suffer people on foot to travail through their lands freely and they shall have stiles for to Cross the fences upon provided they do no Damage but only passing along — upon the Sabbath for their Greater Convenency if they desire it —
